Design: Wolfgang von Wersin, 1933

Whether smoker or non-smoker, this design by Wolfgang von Wersin is simply brilliant: a round dish, split into four sections, two of them recessed. In addition to cigarettes, both of these grooved trays can serve as perfect holders for pencils and paper clips. The black and red colour, designed by von Wersin himself in 1933, add further emphasis to the strict line layout of this 13 centimetre wide masterpiece.
